

For Immediate Release

November 14, 2013

Yorkton Opens New Bulk Water Fill Station

The City of Yorkton opened a new, 24 hour Bulk Water Fill Station today. In addition to round-the-clock self-serve access, the new station offers various payment options including a monthly charge account for industrial and commercial users, pre-paid accounts and coin operation.

The station is located on the access road off Highway 10 East, just past Deneschuk Homes at a former water treatment plant location. Patrons just need to follow the posted access signs to reach the fill station.

“We wanted to make bulk water more accessible to the public, whether this is city residents, businesses, campers, or farmers and others from the surrounding area who may not have good potable water,” said Mayor Bob Maloney.

The old Bulk Water Fill Station was located at the Public Works Yard on York Road, but was only accessible during normal working hours and was not self-serve. It has now been closed.

To sign up for a bulk water account patrons can visit the Environmental Services Department located at Yorkton’s Water Treatment Plant on Queen Street Monday to Friday, 7:00 am to 4:00 pm.

30

For Further information contact:

Roy Lanaway,

Manager of Communications

City of Yorkton

Phone: 306.828.2424

Mobile: 306.621.2510

rланaway@yorkton.ca